NEW BOARD STEPS IN

And the Old Body Gracefully Retires.

UNABLE TO ELECT A CLERK

Special Session Called for Tonight—Hot Argument for Clerkship—Ballots Cast, But the Result Was a Tie and the Matter is Still in Abeyance.

The members-elect of the new board of education were duly installed in their official capacities last night, but a complete organization of that body was not effected. The selection of a president was determined upon, but the efforts of the new board to choose a clerk were futile, and the question still remains in abeyance. All the members of the retired board, with the exception of Mr. Taylor, were present early in the evening to wind up a few remaining details of business over which they had jurisdiction. The following bills then came up for consideration, and were ordered paid: Balance on heater contract, $720; Standard livery, sand, $9.25; J. N. Smith, lumber and labor, $58.90; Andy Ratray, hauling freight, $15.94; Ceramic Light company, $66.90; supplies, $92.85; E. D. Cook, $230.05; D. F. Nellis, $34.15; Crisis, $33; coal for East End school, $51.42; sewer pipe, $1.61; Jutte & Co., $11.94; Tribune, $27.40; balance due on electrical supplies, $291.75; clerk's salary, $300; Etna Iron and Steel company, $10.29.

Retiring President Smith then arose and swore in the following members of the new board: Mrs. Deborah Watson, A. Murray Nickle, O. C. Vodrey, E. A. Stevenson, Mrs. Jessie M. Whitehead, Alex McGraw, J. C. McClain. Member W. T. Norris had not yet arrived. Mr. Owen then made a motion that the old board adjourn sine die. The move prevailed and the retiring members gracefully bowed themselves out, and their places were filled by the newly installed board.

At this moment Dr. W. T. Norris stepped in, and had the oath of office administered to him. The board then prepared to get down to preliminaries. Member Norris was chosen as temporary chairman, and Mrs. Whitehead acted as secretary for the time being. Mr. Stevenson then moved that the board proceed at once to form a permanent organization. The motion carried, and the question was then raised as to what method should be adopted to conduct the voting for candidates. On a motion made by Mr. McGraw that carried, the board resolved to nominate by ballot. Members Nickle and Stevenson were appointed by the chair to keep tally of the votes cast.

The nominations for clerk and president then took place. When the result became known it was found Norris received two votes, Nickle two and McGraw four for president, and that Mrs. Whitehead and Oliver Vodrey were a tie for the clerkship, each receiving four votes. As it requires five votes to elect, another ballot was taken which was not entirely devoid of results. Mr. McGraw got five votes and received the nomination. Nickle only getting one, and Norris' count remaining the same as on the first ballot. The vote for clerk was yet unchanged, each candidate receiving the same number as was cast on the first ballot. The chairman then announced that it would be in order to elect a permanent president, and Mr. Stevenson moved that they elect Mr. McGraw for the position by acclamation. By virtue of having the requisite number of votes and a majority over all other candidates this motion prevailed without a dissenting voice. The new president took the chair, and briefly said in acceptance of the honor that had been conferred upon him: "Ladies and Gentlemen—This is a disappointment to me, but as it is your pleasure, I'll do the best I can."

President McGraw continuing, stated that as the selection of a clerk was yet undetermined another ballot would be taken. He also asked if there was any particular law governing the mode of balloting on this question. Ex-clerk Nellis, who had still remained, produced the laws on this subject, and balloting was resorted to again, but the score was still the same, four for Mrs. Whitehead and a same number for Mr. Vodrey. The president was becoming somewhat impatient at this state of affairs and that was barren of any material results and he said: We can proceed this way and it will take us all night. We'll proceed once more, and if we cannot succeed in electing a clerk, we'll let this question go over until the next meeting night. Again a ballot was taken and again the aspect remained unaltered. Well, what is your wish, said the president, wearily?

Mr. Norris—I am in favor of electing a secretary before we quit. I believe that it is necessary to have one before we can transact any business. The doctor also added that it might be advisable to adjourn until somebody changed their mind.

Mr. Nellis here vouchsafed the information that it was also necessary for the secretary to give bond before any action could be taken by the board. Then followed some discussion relative to the legality of the method of electing a secretary. Two more ballots were then taken and still the vote stood four for each candidate. Seeing the utter absurdity of dallying with this anomalous state of affairs any longer a motion to adjourn was put and carried, the body intending to meet Thursday evening and endeavor to dispose of this matter. After adjournment had taken place, Member McClain wanted the board to reconsider their action and meet again, in order to confer with Agent Chaffin, of the Smead company, who had completed his work and wanted to have a settlement with the board. President McGraw then called a special meeting for this purpose tonight, and incidentally to make another trial at electing a clerk.

A $50,000 BOND

As a Guaranty That the Bridge Will be Completed by Oct. 15.

There are a few people in the city who will only believe we have a bridge when they see pedestrians passing to and fro on the new structure.

Many are the surmises as to the intentions of the company. One well known citizen, whom we had heretofore credited with an average degree of intelligence, was heard to say that the company merely intended to erect a few piers to delude the public, and in the meantime dispose of all the property across the river in lots. This done they will cease work on the bridge with thousands of dollars ahead, as he claims the amount received from the property will pay for the piers, with an enormous amount remaining to be divided among the company. Other rumors of a like character are afloat, but all this is set aside by the statement of one of the members of the bridge company, who said:

"The bridge will positively be completed and ready for the public by October 15, 1896. We have a bond filed in the sum of $50,000 to that effect, and failure to have the structure completed by that time will result in forfeiture."

FLOAT THE FLAG.

Old Glory Must Be Displayed Upon All Public School Houses.

The following is the law to provide for the placing of the United States national flag upon all public school houses, passed by the house and senate of the state, and to go into effect Monday, May 11, 1896:

Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Ohio, That all boards of education be authorized and required to display the United States national flag upon all school houses under their control, during all day school sessions in fair weather, and to be displayed on the inside of the school houses on all other days, and said boards of education shall make all rules and necessary regulations for the care and keeping of said flags, the expenses of the same to be paid out of the contingent funds of such boards.

Sec. 2. All laws and parts of laws conflicting herewith are hereby repealed.

Sec. 3. This act to take effect and be in force on and after the second Monday in May, A. D., 1896.

VISITED THE MAYOR.

A Landlord Wants the Crowds of Loafers Dispersed.

Andy Watson called at the mayor's office yesterday afternoon to file a complaint against the many loafers who hold forth in front of his building on Sixth street. The mayor was absent at the time but the gentleman explained his errand to a News Review reporter who was at the city hall. Mr. Watson said that for some time immemorial crowds of loafers congregated in front of his building and his requests to have the crowd dispersed are often met with volleys of profanity. He also stated that it was almost impossible to rent his business rooms on this account, as tenants soon became tired of the actions of the loafers and vacate. He desires the mayor and officers to put a stop to the loafing.

RESTRICT IMMIGRATION

DIRECT LEGISLATION NECESSARY

Thinks the Foreigner Should be Taxed, as Well as Foreign Products—Not Sufficient Work for Our Own Citizens—Patriots Should Patronize Home Industries.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW:—It is with pleasure that I read your editorial in the issue of the 18th, referring to working voters. It is very true that we should discuss at our meetings the growing question of immigration. I have heard the question discussed many times, and have helped in forming a bill several years ago, through an organization of which I was a member, which bill was about the first Representative Stone, of Pennsylvania, presented to congress. This bill was strongly opposed by the labor unions in Pennsylvania because it was considered an American Mechanic measure, and as there was no general appeal to congress, this bill, like all others, introduced by Mr. Stone and others, have never met with the approval of congress.

It seems to me, Mr. Editor, strange that a very strong measure governing this question cannot be passed. Yet when we think of some of the conditions, or perhaps the legality of the question, we can see but one way that it can be accomplished. That is, by a general vote of the people of this country. There is no power in this country greater than the voice of the people, and therefore we say, let the people settle this question at the coming general election. Let congress pass a special order, that at all voting places in the country, each voter shall be given a ballot through which he can declare if he is favorable or not to foreign immigration, just as we voted here this spring on the Bible question. This, then, if voted on favorably, will, I think, make it obligatory for congress to pass such a bill, as I don't think any court can overrule the decision of the people. No matter what our treaties are with other countries, the law must stand, and congress must arrange with other countries accordingly. If congress cannot do this at this late date, cannot all political parties at their national conventions in some way put the question before the people, as this question must be decided. I think the sooner it is done the better it will be for the country.

As you say, the labor market is now overstocked. Our own children cannot be found places in our workshops. All labor unions are forced to enact laws restricting apprentices, all owing to immigration and selfishness of some employers of labor. I have always been a protectionist, believing that we must have a revenue from some source to maintain our government. A tax levied upon foreign products is the source our revenue should come from. I believe that any person who is not patriotic enough to patronize home industries should be taxed, so that those who are thrown out of employment, by reason of this non-patriotism, can be furnished employment with the use of the revenue so received.

Now, Mr. Editor, believing it is right to tax the product of foreign nations, I think it also right to tax foreign labor. I believe every person coming to our shores should turn into the coffers of our country something which the government can use to find him employment, so that he will not become a drug on the labor market, or become a competitor for a position for which there are already too many bidders. If the government was to follow the example of the American Flint Glass Workers' union, I am sure things would be different. It would insure good citizenship and revenue. That organization compels every foreigner to pay into its treasury $200 for the privilege, as it were, of enjoying the benefits that this organization has so manfully fought for, which, in our opinion, is right. This question is one we do not as a rule like to discuss, for the reason that foreigners always take the wrong meaning out of it, believing we are opposed to all foreigners. I only look at it in this way: I am not opposed to any one in this country, if he does not compel us to come to the conditions which he left behind, or as long as he respects the laws of our country. But I am strongly opposed to any more coming to our shores unless they are in a position to give to our government sufficient to justify it in finding him employment at good wages.

If the conditions in our country were the same as they were 40 or 50 years ago, then we could let them come in as they always have. But they are not, and we have a right, and must use that right, to the best interest of our grand and glorious country. Soon some of our organized forces will attempt to further the eight-hour movement, which, in my opinion, will not help us as it should. It will only find employment for more from the other side. I believe when we sacrifice anything it should be done in a way that it will benefit those who are near and dear to us. Thanking you for the space, I am

Yours in True Patriotism,
WILLIAM RUHE.

Reproduction of a Song Once Popular in East Liverpool.

The following beautiful, tender, touching and pathetic lines are supposed to have been the creation of Bobbie Burns, the celebrated Scotch poet, and it is said that the heart of one connected therewith burns within him, even at this remote day. We hate to harrow up the feelings of our readers with the awful pathos embraced in this poem; but we reproduce it at the request of those who find much therein that brings back to them vivid recollections of the days of Auld Lang Syne:

Oh, Jeremiah—er, puff the fire,
Tramp! tramp! tramp!!!
And then attune your perfect Lyre;
Tramp! tramp! tramp!!!
Don't let the music go to waste;
Tramp! tramp! tramp!!!
But swell your chest and puff out PASTE,
Tramp! tramp! tramp!!!
The monkeys now are in great glee,
Tramp! tramp! tramp!!!
For Jerry dear a monk would be,
Tramp! tramp! tramp!!!
They gazed into dear Jerry's face,
Tramp! tramp! tramp!!!
And stamped him FATHER of the race,
Tramp! tramp! tramp!!!

More Kind Words For America's Next President.

It delegates that count, and McKinley has them.—Pittsburg Press. It was predicted that last week would be an unfortunate one for Major McKinley, but it was quite the contrary. The conventions in New Jersey and Kentucky proved to be the biggest kind of surprises to the anti-McKinley boomers.—Youngstown Telegram.

McKinley is doing fairly well in Illinois. In the state convention to convene the 29th inst. 545 have been instructed for him; 119 outside of Cook county and 125 in Cook county, although uninstructed, have declared in his favor. This gives McKinley 789 out of the 1,335 delegates, without admitting the claims of the McKinley managers to the 104 more delegates in Cook county yet to be elected. If Illinois declares for McKinley a receiver will be needed for the "presidential trust."—Ohio State Journal.

NEW QUARTERS.

The McKinley Club May Occupy the Y. M. C. A. Building.

At the last regular meeting of the McKinley club a committee was appointed to look after more commodious quarters for the body, and they will report at the meeting Thursday night. The club are considering the advisability of leasing the Young Men's Christian association rooms, and if their plans assume definite shape, they will have quarters second to none. The rooms are especially adapted to club purposes and it is thought they will be secured. The committee in charge meet tonight to prepare their report to be submitted to the club at the regular meeting. For spirit and progressiveness the club has no equal, and the new move on their part is one which will no doubt receive the hearty support of every member.

WHAT'S THE MATTER.

A Sewer Ordered Constructed Over a Year Ago.

Over a year ago the board of health ordered a sewer constructed in the upper part of Lincoln avenue, but for some reason the work was never begun. The residents are at a loss to account for the neglect on the part of the city and are justly indignant. They claim the condition of some of the property on that thoroughfare is a menace to health and should be remedied. A resident says he has seen almost every member of the board of health, and a number of councilmen, on the subject, and states he received only promises for his pains. He thinks there is gross neglect on the part of the proper officials, and the matter should be attended to at once.

HE ENDED HIS CAREER

A Former Resident of This Place Suicides.

A REVOLVER DID THE WORK

Chris Omenhauser, a former resident of this city, committed suicide at Steubenville Sunday, by shooting himself with a revolver, the bullet entering the left breast near the heart and causing death almost instantly. The man has two daughters residing here, Mrs. Edward Kuckart, of Market street and Mrs. Flora Bowers, of Sunnyside. The following clipping, taken from the Steubenville Gazette, contains an account of the dead man's rash act:

"Chris Omenhauser, a German shoemaker who has conducted a shop in the Draper building on South Fourth street committed suicide Sunday at a point along the Cleveland and Pittsburg railroad below George's Run. The deed was done with a revolver and the bullet entered the left breast. The suicide was found later and taken to the home of a Mr. Schrader, living not far from the scene of the shooting. Coroner Fisher was notified, and with Stenographer Campbell, is holding an inquest today and telegraphing for the deceased's relatives. Omenhauser has been on a protracted spree for several weeks and has threatened to shoot several imaginary enemies and the school boys who have annoyed him. He has even visited the mayor's office, asking that the boys be kept away or he would send them into the next world."

Omenhauser resided here for a number of years and did kilnwork at Goodwin's pottery for some time. He also worked at the glass works.

The remains of the dead man were shipped to this place this morning and the funeral took place this afternoon from the residence of Mrs. Kuckart on Market street. Interment was in Spring Grove cemetery.

LISBON NEWS.

A Few Local Happenings From the County Seat.

LISBON, April 21.—A change is being made in the court room. Arrangements will be commenced today in transforming the back hall, which adjoins the court room, into a witness room. Heretofore witnesses when separated were of necessity placed in the petit jury room, which, owing to the distance from the witness box has caused great inconvenience. The court room is also being handsomely carpeted.

John B. Orr, who was born in this place 78 years ago, died at 3 o'clock this morning, after an illness of two years resulting from old age. After the funeral services, which will be held on Thursday morning, the remains will be interred in the Township Line cemetery in Madison township.

The Young Men's Lyceum arranged for their second annual bicycle meet last night, and decided on July 23 as the day, to be held on the fair ground.

MIRACULOUS.

Thomas Arbuckle Recovers From an Injury of 16 Years Standing.

Sixteen years ago Thomas Arbuckle, accompanied by Colonel Hill, started on a trip to Lisbon in a buggy. When near their destination the horse became frightened, upsetting the buggy and precipitating both gentlemen to the ground. Mr. Arbuckle's back was painfully injured, and he has suffered untold agony at intervals ever since. A few days ago, while engaged in a friendly wrestle with a stranger, his back was wrenched, and, strange to say, resumed its normal condition. Mr. Arbuckle says his back feels as well as ever, and a friendly tussle did more for him in an instant than the physicians' services of 16 years.

$2,000,000 Awaiting a Claimant in South America.

Andy J. Besser, a German laborer, who has been employed on the new bridge, received a letter stating that an uncle had died in Venezuela, leaving a fortune of over $2,000,000. As Besser is apparently the nearest relative of the deceased millionaire he at once resigned his position and left today for South America. Besser was formerly night watchman at Thompson's pottery and is well known in the city. He has lately had some domestic difficulties, but the news received this morning will have a tendency to allay the pains caused by infelicity.

Yet when we think of some of the conditions, or perhaps the legality of the question, we can see but one way that it can be accomplished. That is, by a general vote of the people of this country. There is no power in this country greater than the voice of the people, and therefore we say, let the people settle this question at the coming general election. Let congress pass a special order, that at all voting places in the country, each voter shall be given a ballot through which he can declare if he is favorable or not to foreign immigration, just as we voted here this spring on the Bible question. This, then, if voted on favorably, will, I think, make it obligatory for congress to pass such a bill, as I don't think any court can overrule the decision of the people. No matter what our treaties are with other countries, the law must stand, and congress must arrange with other countries accordingly. If congress cannot do this at this late date, cannot all political parties at their national conventions in some way put the question before the people, as this question must be decided. I think the sooner it is done the better it will be for the country.

As you say, the labor market is now overstocked. Our own children cannot be found places in our workshops. All labor unions are forced to enact laws restricting apprentices, all owing to immigration and selfishness of some employers of labor. I have always been a protectionist, believing that we must have a revenue from some source to maintain our government. A tax levied upon foreign products is the source our revenue should come from. I believe that any person who is not patriotic enough to patronize home industries should be taxed, so that those who are thrown out of employment, by reason of this non-patriotism, can be furnished employment with the use of the revenue so received.

Now, Mr. Editor, believing it is right to tax the product of foreign nations, I think it also right to tax foreign labor. I believe every person coming to our shores should turn into the coffers of our country something which the government can use to find him employment, so that he will not become a drag on the labor market, or become a competitor for a position for which there are already too many bidders. If the government was to follow the example of the American Flint Glass Workers' union, I am sure things would be different. It would insure good citizenship and revenue. That organization compels every foreigner to pay into its treasury $200 for the privilege, as it were, of enjoying the benefits that this organization has so manfully fought for, which, in our opinion, is right. This question is one we do not as a rule like to discuss, for the reason that foreigners always take the wrong meaning out of it, believing we are opposed to all foreigners. I only look at it in this way: I am not opposed to any one in this country, if he does not compel us to come to the conditions which he left behind, or as long as he respects the laws of our country. But I am strongly opposed to any more coming to our shores unless they are in a position to give to our government sufficient to justify it in finding him employment at good wages.

If the conditions in our country were the same as they were 40 or 50 years ago, then we could let them come in as they always have. But they are not, and we have a right, and must use that right, to the best interest of our grand and glorious country. Soon some of our organized forces will attempt to further the eight-hour movement, which, in my opinion, will not help us as it should. It will only find employment for more from the other side. I believe when we sacrifice anything it should be done in a way that it will benefit those who are near and dear to us. Thanking you for the space, I am

Yours in True Patriotism,
WILLIAM RUHE.

Reproduction of a Song Once Popular in East Liverpool.

The following beautiful, tender, touching and pathetic lines are supposed to have been the creation of Bobbie Burns, the celebrated Scotch poet, and it is said that the heart of one connected therewith burns within him, even at this remote day. We hate to harrow up the feelings of our readers with the awful pathos embraced in this poem; but we reproduce it at the request of those who find much therein that brings back to them vivid recollections of the days of Auld Lang Syne:

Oh, Jerusalem, puff the fire,
Trump! tramp! tramp!!!
And then attune your perfect Lyre;
Trump! tramp! tramp!!!
Don't let the music go to waste;
Trump! tramp! tramp!!!
But swell your chest and puff out PASTE,
Trump! tramp! tramp!!!
The monkeys now are in great glee,
Trump! tramp! tramp!!!
For Jerry dear a MOSK would be,
Trump! tramp! tramp!!!
They gaze at Jerry's face,
Trump! tramp! tramp!!!
And stamped him FATHER of the race,
Trump! tramp! tramp!!!

More Kind Words For America's Next President.

It delegates that count, and McKinley has them.—Pittsburgh Press. It was predicted that last week would be an unfortunate one for Major McKinley, but it was quite the contrary. The conventions in New Jersey and Kentucky proved to be the biggest kind of surprises to the anti-McKinley boomers.—Youngstown Telegram.

McKinley is doing fairly well in Illinois. In the state convention to convene the 29th inst. 545 have been instructed for him; 119 outside of Cook county and 125 in Cook county, although uninstructed, have declared in his favor. This gives McKinley 789 out of the 1,335 delegates, without admitting the claims of the McKinley managers to the 104 more delegates in Cook county yet to be elected. If Illinois declares for McKinley a receiver will be needed for the "presidential trust."—Ohio State Journal.

NEW QUARTERS.

The McKinley Club May Occupy the Y. M. C. A. Building.

At the last regular meeting of the McKinley club a committee was appointed to look after more commodious quarters for the body, and they will report at the meeting Thursday night. The club are considering the advisability of leasing the Young Men's Christian association rooms, and if their plans assume definite shape, they will have quarters second to none. The rooms are especially adapted to club purposes and it is thought they will be secured. The committee in charge meet tonight to prepare their report to be submitted to the club at the regular meeting. For spirit and progressiveness the club has no equal, and the new move on their part is one which will no doubt receive the hearty support of every member.

WHAT'S THE MATTER.

A Sewer Ordered Constructed Over a Year Ago.

Over a year ago the board of health ordered a sewer constructed in the upper part of Lincoln avenue, but for some reason the work was never begun. The residents are at a loss to account for the neglect on the part of the city and are justly indignant. They claim the condition of some of the property on that thoroughfare is a menace to health and should be remedied. A resident says he has seen almost every member of the board of health, and a number of councilmen, on the subject, and states he received only promises for his pains. He thinks there is gross neglect on the part of the proper officials, and the matter should be attended to at once.

HE ENDED HIS CAREER

A Former Resident of This Place Suicides.

A REVOLVER DID THE WORK

Chris Omenhauser, a former resident of this city, committed suicide at Steubenville Sunday, by shooting himself with a revolver, the bullet entering the left breast near the heart and causing death almost instantly. The man has two daughters residing here, Mrs. Edward Kuckart, of Market street and Mrs. Flora Bowers, of Sunnyside. The following clipping, taken from the Steubenville Gazette, contains an account of the dead man's rash act:

"Chris Omenhauser, a German shoemaker who has conducted a shop in the Draper building on South Fourth street committed suicide Sunday at a point along the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad below George's Run. The deed was done with a revolver and the bullet entered the left breast. The suicide was found later and taken to the home of a Mr. Schrader, living not far from the scene of the shooting. Coroner Fisher was notified, and with Stenographer Campbell, is holding an inquest today and telegraphing for the deceased's relatives. Omenhauser has been on a protracted spree for several weeks and has threatened to shoot several imaginary enemies and the school boys who have annoyed him. He has even visited the mayor's office, asking that the boys be kept away or he would send them into the next world."

Omenhauser resided here for a number of years and did kilnwork at Goodwin's pottery for some time. He also worked at the glass works.

The remains of the dead man were shipped to this place this morning and the funeral took place this afternoon from the residence of Mrs. Kuckart on Market street. Interment was in Spring Grove cemetery.

LISBON NEWS.

A Few Local Happenings From the County Seat.

Lisbon, April 21.—A change is being made in the court room. Arrangements will be commenced today in transforming the back hall, which adjoins the court room, into a witness room. Heretofore witnesses when separated were of necessity placed in the petit jury room, which, owing to the distance from the witness box has caused great inconvenience. The court room is also being handsomely carpeted.

John B. Orr, who was born in this place 78 years ago, died at 3 o'clock this morning, after an illness of two years resulting from old age. After the funeral services, which will be held on Thursday morning, the remains will be interred in the Township Line cemetery in Madison township.

The Young Men's Lyceum arranged for their second annual bicycle meet last night, and decided on July 23 as the day, to be held on the fair ground.

MIRACULOUS.

Thomas Arbuckle Recovers From an Injury of 16 Years Standing.

Sixteen years ago Thomas Arbuckle, accompanied by Colonel Hill, started on a trip to Lisbon in a buggy. When near their destination the horse became frightened, upsetting the buggy and precipitating both gentlemen to the ground. Mr. Arbuckle's back was painfully injured, and he has suffered untold agony at intervals ever since. A few days ago, while engaged in a friendly wrestle with a friend, his back was wrenched and, strange to say, resumed its normal condition. Mr. Arbuckle says his back feels as well as ever, and a friendly tussle did more for him in an instant than the physicians' services of 16 years.

$2,000,000 Awaiting a Claimant in South America.

Andy J. Besser, a German laborer, who has been employed on the new bridge, received a letter stating that an uncle had died in Venezuela, leaving a fortune of over $2,000,000. As Besser is apparently the nearest relative of the deceased millionaire he at once resigned his position and left today for South America. Besser was formerly night watchman at Thompson's pottery and is well known in the city. He has lately had some domestic difficulties, but the news received this morning will have a tendency to allay the pains caused by infelicity.

BLOODY POLITICAL RIOT

War In Louisiana Over Negro Registration.

ONE KILLED AND ONE FATALLY SHOT

In a Preliminary Skirmish—The Town of Opelousas Surrounded by Armed Men. The Courthouse Defended by Another Faction Armed to the Teeth.

Five hundred armed men of both parties are on the move and a desperate conflict is expected at any time. Over 250 regulars (those opposing negro registration), armed with Winchesters have surrounded the town and their ostensible object is the capture of the courthouse. On the vote of the Opelousas ward depends their success or defeat in the parish, and they are concentrating their efforts here. They realize that if a full vote is polled the other side will win.

The report came to Opelousas that the regulars were assembling at the Bellevue road bridge, three miles south of town. Arrivals from the country reported that 200 men on horseback and armed with Winchesters, shotguns and pistols, were gathered there and were planning an invasion of the town. Upon the receipt of this news the combine people, or anti-regulars, began to assemble around the courthouse square, armed to the teeth and prepared to resist the invasion. The sheriff was in town when the news first arrived, but he did not attempt to go and disband the armed body of men.

District Judge W. C. Perrault rode out to the camp of the regulars and endeavored by persuasion to get them to disband, but his efforts availed nothing. Dioneides Durio, a leading planter; C. M. Clark, clerk of the district court, and five or six friends were in front of Durio's house. Thirty regulars passed and a battle ensued. One regular, Alec Reed, was killed and another, name unknown, killed.

THE ILLINOIS DEMOCRATS.

State Committee Selects Convention Day. Little Comfort For Gold Men.

CHICAGO, April 21.—The state central committee of Illinois has decided to hold the Democratic state convention at Peoria Tuesday, June 23, by a vote of 21 to 9.

The meeting was comparatively tame, as the contending gold and silver factions had their tilt before the conference began. Secretary of State H. H. H. was there and had at his back many of Governor Altgeld's friends.

The only crumb of comfort the gold men got was the apportionment of delegate representation on the Cleveland vote of 1892, which gives Cook county (Chicago) 362 delegates out of a total of 1,069. This is what the anti-silver men earnestly desired, and the 16 to 1 accorded to their request, stating that the more delegates in the convention the better it would be for Altgeld and silver.

WILL ENDORSE RUSSELL.

Massachusetts Democrats Holding Their Convention Today.

Boston, April 21.—The Democratic state convention is being held here today. Hon. John R. Thayer is permanent chairman. The withdrawal of ex-Governor William E. Russell as a candidate for delegate-at-large has brought out several candidates, among whom are James Donovan, chairman of the Democratic city committee, John B. Moran and John W. Coughlin of Fall River.

It is thought that the fight will be between Donovan and Moran and that Coughlin, who is a personal friend of Donovan, will be induced to withdraw. It seems to be the general impression that the convention will endorse the presidential candidacy of ex-Governor William E. Russell.

ANOTHER A. P. A. STATEMENT.

Why They Are Still Making a Fight at McKinley.

CINCINNATI, April 21.—The national officials of the A. P. A., after a secret conference here, have issued a statement, in which they say:

First.—The hostility of the order to McKinley is not against his person, but against him for his antipathy to the order, shown in his appointments while governor.

Second.—The order does not oppose McKinley in the personal interest of any other candidate. It fights no man because of his religion.

Third.—The order made every effort consistent with manhood to reach McKinley without success.

Fourth.—Congressman Grosvenor's denial that he refused to see the A. P. A. committee, and that he virtually insulted it, is untrue.

Lily Whites Did Not Instruct.

HOUSTON, Tex., April 21.—The reform Republicans (lily whites) at their state convention here gave no instructions to the delegates to St. Louis.

Li Has His Coffin With Him.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—Edward Evans of Shanghai, China, who was among the passengers on the steamer Gaelic, says that Li Hung Chang, the eminent viceroy now on his way to attend the coronation of the czar, took with him on his trip a coffin in which he expects to be buried when he dies.

Fifteen People Drowned.

GLASGOW, April 21.—The steamer Marsden has collided with the British bark Firth of Solway, Captain Kendrick, near Kish lightship, causing the latter to sink. Thirteen men and the captain's wife and child were drowned.

A Revolt In the Congo State.

BRUSSELS, April 21.—A revolt has occurred among the natives at Aruwimi (on the Congo river, at the mouth of the Aruwimi river in the Congo Free State) and several Congo Free State agents have been killed.

A DEMOCRATIC SENATE CAUCUS.

Decided to Wait Until the Republicans Announce Their Program.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The senate adjourned early in order to permit the Democratic senators to hold a caucus which was held in the Democratic conference room. The caucus was called upon the suggestion on the part of the signers of the call that it would be competent for the caucus to decide upon an order of business before the final adjournment of congress. The meeting did not, however, result in such determination.

It was even discovered that the recognized leaders on the Democratic side were of the opinion that both propriety and expediency demanded that the Democrats should decide upon no course until the Republicans should announce their program. They contended that while the Republicans had control of the committees they were responsible for legislation and that it was in the interest of the Democracy that this position should be maintained. It was decided to wait until after the Republican conference.

The House Session.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—A bill passed the house granting the Dawson family, British subjects $2,300 for damages received in Nebraska at the hands of American citizens. Mr. Dockery (Dem.) during debate chided the Republicans for inaction, especially tariff legislation, during the present congress and Mr. Dockery said it was the fault of the senate and the opinion that the president would veto any action.

Waller Talks to Officials.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Ex-United States Consul Waller, in company with Paul Bray, his stepson, has had a short interview with Assistant Secretary Adee, and also with Chief Chilton, of the consular bureau, and will endeavor to see Secretary Olney later in the week.

FRANCE AND RUSSIA OBJECT.

Trying to Force England to Return the Nile Expedition Money.

CAIRO, April 21.—The French and Russian members of the commission of the caissio of the Egyptian debt have summoned the other members before the mixed tribunals on a claim for the repayment of the funds, which they allege were illegally advanced for the expenses of the Nile expedition.

This is the sequence of the action of the French and Russian members of the commission in protesting against the advance to Great Britain of the $500,000 required for the Nile expedition and their withdrawal from the meeting of the commission when the grant was voted. The mixed tribunals are established under the auspices of the European powers and are provided for the purposes of litigation between natives and foreigners in Egypt.

Supplies Reach Bulawayo.

LONDON, April 21.—The Exchange Telegraph company says that better news has been received from Bulawayo by the secretary of state for the colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain. The wagon train of provisions from the south is said to have succeeded in entering the beleaguered town and reinforcements from Mafeking are reported to be advancing rapidly without obstruction.

For International Bimetallism Conference.

BRUSSELS, April 21.—The bimetallic conference, called with the view of paving the way to international negotiations on the subject, is in session here. Delegates from Germany, United States, Great Britain, France, Austria, Russia, Belgium, Denmark, Holland and Roumania are present.

ZANZIBAR, April 21.—Steamers full of German troops are passing daily on their way to Tanga, German East Africa. It is supposed that trouble is expected with the insurgent chief, Mbarukaziz.

HOME RULE FOR CUBA.

Our Dispatch From Madrid of Yesterday Confirmed.

STATE DEPARTMENT INFORMED

The Law to Go Into Effect Within Four Weeks—Details of What It Will Grant to the Cubans—Maceo Waiting His Time to Cross the Spanish Military Line.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Spanish reforms in Cuba, news of which has already been given in these dispatches, will be put into execution within the next four weeks. It will be a comprehensive system of home rule.

There is good reason to believe that the state department has received from Madrid information to this effect, which bears out our previous dispatch from Madrid on this point. In any event it is beyond question that this important move is assured. It promises to bring to a sudden termination the irritation and friction which has existed for many months between the United States and Spain, and to replace this feeling with one of a friendly and amicable nature.

The law which will be put into effect was signed by the queen regent of Spain, March 15, 1895, and will be followed up by rules and regulations developing the present scheme of reforms. By the time the queen regent of Spain makes her address to the Spanish cortes, which assembles in one month, the law will be promulgated throughout Cuba and the long-expected policy of home rule for Cuba will be realized.

The law is very elaborate in its provisions. The element of home rule is secured by the establishment of two local bodies, drawn largely, if not entirely, from residents of Cuba. One of these is to be known as the provincial chamber of deputies and the other as the council of administration. The latter has appellate jurisdiction over the former. Large powers are granted to the council of administration in the internal management of public affairs, but the governor general will continue as the supreme representative of Spain on the island, and will have direct charge of military, naval and international questions. The details of the reform project were published at the time of their adoption by the Spanish cortes in 1895.

MACEO BIDDING HIS TIME.

When He Gets Ready He Will Break Through the Spanish Barrier.

HAVANA, April 21.—If General Maceo succeeds in crossing the 16-mile barrier in spite of the 50,000 Spanish regulars pressing him on all sides, General Weyler must confess, as General Campezo did, that the campaign is a failure and that Spain cannot end this war by her own unaided forces.

The rebel general has sent word to his friends in Havana that he will break through the trocha when he is ready, and that when the first showers of rain fall the captain general's plans will turn to dust. It is certain that General Maceo has some sure means of suddenly assembling his relieving bands on this side of the trocha, some say by means of colored paper balloons and others by messages. There is a growing belief here that if General Weyler is outmaneuvered now Spain will presently welcome the friendly mediation of the United States. Even the Spaniards share this feeling.

Prisoners of war are condemned to death as incendiaries without proof of actual guilt. Evidence that a rebel soldier belonged to a column of the enemy which burned property is sufficient to insure his death. A prisoner's conviction depends upon whether he joined the offending band before or after the incendiarism occurred. It is said that nearly 100 prisoners will be shot as incendiaries within a few days.

Rev. Diaz Still Held by Spain.

HAVANA, April 21.—The Rev. Albert Diaz, the American Baptist missionary and his brother, Alfred, who were arrested last week, are still held "incommunicado" and, therefore, nothing definite can be ascertained regarding the charges against them further than it is generally understood that they are of a political nature.

HONORING BOREMAN'S MEMORY.

Prominent Men Attended the Ex-Governor's Funeral Today.

WHEELING, April 21.—The funeral of ex-Governor Arthur I. Boreman, who died Sunday, took place today at Parkersburg. Public men from all parts of West Virginia attended. Congressman Dovenor of the Wheeling district, Hon. Charles Burdett Hart and others from Wheeling were in attendance.

Governor Boreman was the first chief executive of the state of West Virginia. Francis Pierpont was governor of the loyal part of Virginia and Mr. Boreman was elected governor when the new state was born in 1863.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., April 20.—Ex-Governor Boreman, the last of the war governors of West Virginia, has died at his home here. He was once United States senator and has been identified with state interests for 35 years. At the time of his death he was circuit court judge for this district.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., TUESDAY, APRIL 20.

For President,
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
OF Ohio.

VILLAINY.

The sum of all villainy, in so far as politics is concerned, is to deliberately ruin the industries of a nation. Respectfully referred to the Democratic party.

CONSISTENCY.

"Consistency, thou art a jewel." Respectfully referred to the business men and merchants who are constantly urging the newspapers to advocate dealing at home, on the part of citizens of East Liverpool, and who themselves send their job work to rat offices in Cleveland, where men, women and children are paid starvation wages, thus making it impossible for employers who pay living wages to successfully compete with them. It would be a good plan for Trades council to take action respecting such merchants, and let them secure patrons for their goods in Cleveland.

OLD GLORY!

Every loyal man and woman in Ohio will rejoice at the action taken by the lawmakers of the Buckeye State respecting OLD GLORY. The board of education will now find it an absolute and imperative duty to fling the flag to the breeze on every fair day that school is in session, and placed in a prominent position inside the school room during days of storm or rain. This is as it should be. The lesson of patriotism and love of country cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of the youth of the land, and the lessons thus early inculcated in their childhood days will bear fruit which will result in the glory of the nation. With the dear old Bible in our public schools, and the flag of our country proudly flung to the breeze from the flag staffs of the little log school houses of the land, and these in turn represented by teachers who are loyal and true, and who will take deep pleasure in teaching the scholars all the dear old flag represents, under the providence of God, we will have a nation of heroes and heroines, and bid defiance to all foes. Fling OLD GLORY to the breeze.

DAYS OF PROSPERITY.

They are coming to this nation, and only the hand of God can stop them. The breath of prosperity is in the atmosphere. Democracy has been a curse to the nation for years, from one of two causes—ineptness or villainy. There can be no other verdict rendered. Under Republican rule, with magnificent leaders in control of the ship of state, the sea of commerce and business enterprise was filled with vessels which were freighted with goods which brought prosperity and plenty to the homes and freights of the mechanics and workmen of the nation. From some unexplainable and mysterious source came the demon of unrest, and the great masses demanded a change. These great masses always control when they reach the point of dead earnestness, and they forced the change they desired. Ye gods, what a change! Out of the frying pan into the fire, and that fire heated seven times hotter than hot. Famished and hungry for the spoils of office, the Democratic leaders have apparently cared for nothing else, and every office-holder, from Cleveland down to the pound master, has lived on this basis, and the interests of the bread-winners of the nation have not been taken into consideration for a moment, while foreign nations have slapped Uncle Sam in the face with impunity, the president of this grand Republic meanwhile satisfying himself by going on a fishing excursion and avoiding unpleasant personal dilemmas. The workmen of the nation have been slow to act under the press of idleness and national shame and disgrace; but they have awakened to the emergency at last, and the doom of Democracy is sealed. A great and grand Republican victory is assured, and Ohio and the nation at large demands that William McKinley shall be the leader, and the outlook is that this grand man, soldier and statesman, will assume the reins of government. The platform of the Republican party must be one which embraces the idea of the greater good to the greater mass. Honest money will mean unimpaired credit, at home and abroad, and make a dollar of Uncle Sam's worth one hundred cents the world around. The Republican party will win an overwhelming victory in the coming presidential issue, and her leaders should see to it that she proves worthy of the trust placed in her. The days of the supremacy of the political boss and his hirelings must be relegated to oblivion, and honest and true men placed in power, from president down. By and through such a course, the Grand Old Party will be allowed to hold the reins of government for many long years. Republican victory and consequent prosperity is in the atmosphere. The workmen and mechanics have so decreed. They are the hope and safety of the nation. They will speak in tones not to be misunderstood when the battle of ballots rages.

He Approved the Book.

Chauncey M. Depew was telling a story about a police superintendent in one of our inland cities. The man was a sharp, shrewd fellow, who worked his way up from the ranks, with little or no education. A boy was arrested at the station by one of his officers, and in due time brought before the superintendent. The officer said that the boy had run away from his home in the east and was going west to fight Indians. The superintendent asked if any weapons had been found on the youthful desperado. The officer replied that the only thing found on him was a book. The superintendent continued: "These dime novels are doing more to injure boys' characters and to drive them from home than anything else. Let me see it."

The officer handed him the book. He took it and opened it. Then he said: "This is the Bible—eh? I have heard a lot about this book, but I have never read it. Wait until I see what it says." He began to read slowly and laboriously. After 20 minutes' silence he took his feet down from the desk, placed his glasses back in the case, and said kindly to the boy, "Well, my little man, I am surprised that with a book of this kind in your possession you should have decided to run away from home." Turning to the officer he said in a matter of fact way, "There are some really good things in it."—New York Tribune.

His First Glimpse of the Sea.

King Premph of Ashanti never saw the sea until the day when, as a prisoner of the English, he was brought down to the coast and embarked on the warship that had been designated to take him to the place of his exile, where he must spend the rest of his life. The beach was crowded with a dense throng of natives, who shouted and sang and made a tremendous din when Premph and his companions came in sight. The expression on the king's face when he first beheld the ocean was one of blank astonishment, not unmixed with alarm, but he soon recovered himself and talked volubly in the farewell interview which he had before embarking. A detachment of the West Yorkshire battalion entered a surfboat, and Premph was placed in their midst. The chief interpreter followed closely in the wake of the boat conveying the king, whose every movement was plainly visible. His novel surrounding evidently made a great impression upon Premph, and when the Racon was reached and boarded he was quite lost in wonder. Long before the Racon started many of the Ashanti prisoners, most of whom had preserved a most stolid demeanor on coming on board, were painfully seasick.

A Frenchman's Dilemma.

"I begin to understand your language better," said a Frenchman the other day, "but your verbs trouble me still. You mix them so with your prepositions. I have just seen my friend, Mrs. James, and she said she intended to break down housekeeping—no, break up, I mean—her health is so broken into, and since smallpox was broken up in the city she thinks she will leave for a time." After some difficulty he was set straight and made to understand that he should say broken up as applied to health, broken out as applied to smallpox, after which he continued: "Mrs. James tells me her son's engagement is broken—broken off. He seems a nice young fellow and is a breaker, I believe." And it was some time before his hearers realized that this last was not a pun, but only another eccentricity of the verb "to break"—that young Mr. James is a breaker, and that his profession is not that of breaking either engagements or hearts.—New York Journal.

BLOODY POLITICAL RIOT

War In Louisiana Over Negro Registration.

ONE KILLED AND ONE FATALLY SHOT

In a Preliminary Skirmish—The Town of Opelousas Surrounded by Armed Men. The Courthouse Defended by Another Faction Armed to the Teeth.

Five hundred armed men of both parties are on the move and a desperate conflict is expected at any time. Over 250 regulars (those opposing negro registration), armed with Winchester rifles, surrounded the town and their ostensible object is the capture of the courthouse. On the vote of the Opelousas ward depends their success or defeat in the parish, and they are concentrating their efforts here. They realize that if a full vote is polled the other side will win.

The report came to Opelousas that the regulars were assembling at the Bellevue road bridge, three miles south of town. Arrivals from the country reported that 200 men on horseback and armed with Winchester, shotguns and pistols, were gathered there and were planning an invasion of the town. Upon the receipt of this news the combine people, or anti-regulators, began to assemble around the courthouse square, armed to the teeth and prepared to resist the invasion. The sheriff was in town when the news first arrived, but he did not attempt to go and disband the armed body of men.

District Judge W. C. Perrault rode out to the camp of the regulars and endeavored by persuasion to get them to disband, but his efforts availed nothing. Dionides Durio, a leading planter; C. M. Clark, clerk of the district court, and five or six friends' were in front of Durio's house. Thirty regulars passed and a battle ensued. One regular, Alice Reed, was killed and another, name unknown, killed.

THE ILLINOIS DEMOCRATS.

State Committee Selects Convention Day. Little Comfort For Gold Men.

CHICAGO, April 21.—The state central committee of Illinois has decided to hold the Democratic state convention at Peoria Tuesday, June 23, by a vote of 21 to 9.

The meeting was comparatively tame, as the contending gold and silver factions had their tilt before the conference began. Secretary of State Hinrichsen was there and had at his back many of Governor Altgeld's friends.

The only crumb of comfort the gold men got was the apportionment of delegate representation on the Cleveland vote of 1892, which gives Cook county (Chicago) 362 delegates out of a total of 1,069. This is what the anti-silver men earnestly desired, and the 16 to 1 accorded to their request, stating that the more delegates in the convention the better it would be for Altgeld and silver.

WILL ENDORSE RUSSELL.

Massachusetts Democrats Holding Their Convention Today.

BOSTON, April 21.—The Democratic state convention is being held here today. Hon. John R. Thayer is permanent chairman. The withdrawal of ex-Governor William E. Russell as a candidate for delegate-at-large has brought out several candidates, among whom are James Donovan, chairman of the Democratic city committee, John B. Moran and John W. Coughlin of Fall River.

It is thought that the fight will be between Donovan and Moran and that Coughlin, who is a personal friend of Donovan, will be induced to withdraw. It seems to be the general impression that the convention will endorse the presidential candidacy of ex-Governor William E. Russell.

ANOTHER A. P. A. STATEMENT.

Why They Are Still Making a Fight at McKinley.

CINCINNATI, April 21.—The national officials of the A. P. A., after a secret conference here, have issued a statement, in which they say:

First.—The hostility of the order to McKinley is not against him as a man, but against him for his antipathy to the order, shown in his appointments while governor.

Second.—The order does not oppose McKinley in the personal interest of any other candidate. It fights no man because of his religion.

Third.—The order made every effort consistent with manhood to reach McKinley without success.

Fourth.—Congressman Grosvenor's denial that he refused to see the A. P. A. committee, and that he virtually insulted it, is untrue.

Lily Whites Did Not Instruct.

HOUSTON, Tex., April 21.—The reform Republicans (lily whites) at their state convention here gave no instructions to the delegates to St. Louis.

BRUSSELS, April 21.—A revolt has occurred among the natives at Aruwimi (on the Congo river, at the mouth of the Aruwimi river in the Congo Free State) and several Congo Free State agents have been killed.

A DEMOCRATIC SENATE CAUCUS.

Decided to Wait Until the Republicans Announce Their Program.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The senate adjourned early in order to permit the Democratic senators to hold a caucus which was held in the Democratic conference room. The caucus was called upon the supposition on the part of the signers of the call that it would be competent for the caucus to decide upon an order of business before the final adjournment of congress. The meeting did not, however, result in such determination.

It was even discovered that the recognized leaders on the Democratic side were of the opinion that both propriety and expediency demanded that the Democrats should decide upon no course until the Republicans should announce their program. They contended that while the Republicans had control of the committees they were responsible for legislation and that it was in the interest of the Democracy that this position should be maintained. It was decided to wait until after the Republican conference.

The House Session.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—A bill passed the house granting the Dawson family, British subjects $2,300 for damages received in Nebraska at the hands of American citizens, Mr. Dockery (Dem.) during debate chided the Republicans for inaction, especially tariff legislation, during the present congress and Mr. Dingley said it was the fault of the senate and the opinion that the president would veto any action.

This is the sequence of the action of the French and Russian members of the commission in protesting against the advance to Great Britain of the £500,000 required for the Nile expedition and their withdrawal from the meeting of the commission when the grant was voted. The mixed tribunals are established under the auspices of the European powers and are provided for the purposes of litigation between natives and foreigners in Egypt.

HOME RULE FOR CUBA.

Our Dispatch From Madrid of Yesterday Confirmed.

STATE DEPARTMENT INFORMED

The Law to Go Into Effect Within Four Weeks—Details of What It Will Grant to the Cubans—Maceo Waiting His Time to Cross the Spanish Military Line.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Spanish reforms in Cuba, news of which has already been given in these dispatches, will be put into execution within the next four weeks. It will be a comprehensive system of home rule.

There is good reason to believe that the state department has received from Madrid information to this effect, which bears out our previous dispatch from Madrid on this point. In any event it is beyond question that this important move is assured. It promises to bring to a sudden termination the irritation and friction which has existed for many months between the United States and Spain, and to replace this feeling with one of a friendly and amicable nature.

The law which will be put into effect was signed by the queen regent of Spain, March 15, 1895, and will be followed up by rules and regulations developing the present scheme of reforms. By the time the queen regent of Spain makes her address to the Spanish cortes, which assemblies in one month, the law will be promulgated throughout Cuba and the long-expected policy of home rule for Cuba will be realized.

The law is very elaborate in its provisions. The element of home rule is secured by the establishment of two local bodies, drawn largely, if not entirely, from residents of Cuba. One of these is to be known as the provincial chamber of deputies and the other as the council of administration. The latter has appellate jurisdiction over the former. Large powers are granted to the council of administration in the internal management of public affairs, but the governor general will continue as the supreme representative of Spain on the island, and will have direct charge of military, naval and international questions. The details of the reform project were published at the time of their adoption by the Spanish cortes in 1895.

MACEO BIDDING HIS TIME.

When He Gets Ready He Will Break Through the Spanish Barrier.

HAVANA, April 21.—If General Maceo succeeds in crossing the 16-mile barrier in spite of the 50,000 Spanish regulars pressing him on all sides, General Weyler must confess, as General Campos did, that the campaign is a failure and that Spain cannot end this war by her own unaided forces.

The rebel general has sent word to his friends in Havana that he will break through the trocha when he is ready, and that when the first showers of rain fall the captain general's plans will turn to dust. It is certain that General Maceo has some sure means of suddenly assembling his relieving bands on this side of the trocha, some say by means of colored paper balloons and others by messages. There is a growing belief here that if General Weyler is outmaneuvered now Spain will presently welcome the friendly mediation of the United States. Even the Spaniards share this feeling.

Prisoners of war are condemned to death as incendiaries without proof of actual guilt. Evidence that a rebel soldier belonged to a column of the enemy which burned property is sufficient to insure his death. A prisoner's conviction depends upon whether he joined the offending band before or after the incendiary occurred. It is said that nearly 100 prisoners will be shot as incendiaries within a few days.

Rev. Diaz Still Held by Spain.

HAVANA, April 21.—The Rev. Albert Diaz, the American Baptist missionary and his brother, Alfred, who were arrested last week, are still held "incommunicado" and, therefore, nothing definite can be ascertained regarding the charges against them further than it is generally understood that they are of a political nature.

HONORING BOREMAN'S MEMORY.

Prominent Men Attended the Ex-Governor's Funeral Today.

WHEELING, April 21.—The funeral of ex-Governor Arthur I. Boreman, who died Sunday, took place today at Parkersburg. Public men from all parts of West Virginia attended. Congressman Davenport of the Wheeling district, Hon. Charles Burdett Hart and others from Wheeling were in attendance.

Governor Boreman was the first chief executive of the state of West Virginia. Francis Pierpont was governor of the loyal part of Virginia and Mr. Boreman was elected governor when the new state was born in 1863.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., April 20.—Ex-Governor Boreman, the last of the war governors of West Virginia, has died at his home here. He was once United States senator and has been identified with state interests for 35 years. At the time of his death he was circuit court judge for this district.

DEADLY WIND AND RAIN

Tornado Sweeps Ohio and Pennsylvania Towns.

PEOPLE KILLED AND OTHERS HURT

Houses and Barns Demolished and Damaged and Human Beings Carried Along by the Wind—Tree Blown Across a Train, Crushing the Caboose.

FREMONT, O., April 21.—The tornado accompanied by a heavy rainfall which swept over the northwestern part of Sandusky county killed two persons, injured a number of others and did great damage to property.

The tornado came from the southwest with great fury and every building it struck was swept away. After smashing a road bridge, blew a big tree across a Wheeling and Lake Erie freight train crushing the caboose and came near killing a number of trainmen.

The wind then began to play havoc with farm buildings. The barns of Jacob Engler, J. Hoffinger, Upton Bergon and Anthony Swint first went down before it. The house of James Green was destroyed. Green's aged father, William L. Green, was killed outright, his wife fatally hurt and the baby carried across the road in its cradle. The child escaped uninjured.

Next the barn of Amos Hetrick, in which Hetrick and John Low were shearing sheep, was crushed. Low was blown across a field against a tree, being instantly killed. Other buildings destroyed were the barns of Al Fairchild, William Hensel, Perry Parish, George Waggoner and Charles Tucker. Tucker's child was badly hurt.

At Booktown, a hamlet near here, nearly all the buildings were destroyed, but there was no loss of life. The storm covered a wide track and it is possible that further damage will be reported.

FEARFUL WIND AT NEW CASTLE.

Buildings Demolished and People Have Narrow Escapes.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., April 21.—The wind here was the heaviest ever known. For half an hour the rain fell in torrents and the wind blew everything loose that was movable. The streets were flooded in every direction and pedestrians found it difficult to get around. Houses in every part of the city were blown down, great trees were uprooted and twisted and torn from the earth. There were many narrow escapes from death. One man, whose name could not be learned, attempted to cross Main street and was thrown to the pavement and rolled at least 50 feet up the street before he could again regain his feet, but he escaped with a few bruises. The front of Charles Earle's West Side store was blown in just as he was at the transacting business, and he and several teeth knocked out by the flying debris.

The Central school building, one of the largest in the city, was completely unroofed; the same was the case with the West Side school and St. Mary's parochial school building, while the Catholic church suffered a similar fate. The damage done to the three school buildings and the church is estimated at not less than $5,000. The new residence of M. L. Hanna was blown down and the handsome residence of Policeman John Marshall had its roof blown off. Lightning struck the Knox hotel, which is kept by William McKibben, and the chimney was blown off and went clear through the roof down into a bedroom. In this room was Miss McKibben and she had a narrow escape with her life. She thought the house was falling in and was about to jump from the second-story window, but was prevented in time.

Nearly every window in the west side of the large Shenango glass works of Knox, Fols & Co. were blown out, together with the sash. The new residence of Joseph Anderson was also wrecked. The large stable of the Fountain inn was raised about five feet and moved from its foundations. Andrew Fall's carriage house was smashed to the ground and a fine buggy wrecked. At the time the wind was at its highest signs were flying in every direction and in many instances people who had taken shelter in the doorways had very narrow escapes. It is believed that other and worse damage had been done in the country districts in the wake of the storm.

DAMAGE AT BEAVER FALLS.

A Building Unroofed and Chimneys Blown Down by the Wind.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., April 21.—The storm swept the entire Beaver valley. First a heavy windstorm arose which was followed first by rain, thunder and lightning, and then hail came down in torrents, doing much damage to trees, telegraph and telephone poles. The heaviest damage done in Beaver Falls was the unroofing of McAnis' jewelry store on Seventh avenue. The roof is of tin and it was picked up bodily by the wind, whirled round and round and then dropped to the pavement to the immediate danger of pedestrians.

The chimneys of the store were also blown down, and his stock, which was large and fine one, was badly damaged by the wind. For five minutes hail stones as large as hen eggs came down with terrific force, breaking nearly every pane of glass in the west side of shops, business houses, churches and residences. The glaziers are reaping a harvest at their own prices, as the damage to glass alone will run over $10,000. The wind unroofed the Coates rake shops and blew down a large number of trees, telegraph and telephone poles.

CONTROVERSY OF THE BOOTH.

The Letters That Passed Regarding Ballington's Resignation.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Commander and Mrs. Booth-Tucker of the Salvation Army have made public the correspondence between Mr. and Mrs. Ballington Booth and the international officials in London, regarding the latter's retirement from the Salvation Army.

The first is the letter of Mr. and Mrs. Ballington Booth sent to the international headquarters on receiving the confirmation of their change of command, and contains the whole of the 22 reasons for severing themselves from the Salvation Army.

The most important parts of this letter, barring the exposure of the general's insult to the American flag (already printed in these dispatches), which was later made public by the Booths and was not a part of the letter to London, have been given in these dispatches before.

The second of the letters is the reply of Bramwell Booth, chief of staff, the general being absent, which says that the Ballington Booths in 1893 had agreed to a change of command. He also reproaches them for their refusal to obey their commanding officer, for their accusations against the general, who, he says, loves America and is working for this country's interests. He also says they failed to come to London when invited to discuss the change. Then he appeals to them to come to London and see the general and reconsider their determination.

General Booth's letter to Ballington is then given. The general contends that he has done nothing to deserve such treatment. What surprises him, he says, is that prior to his departure for India he received letters from Ballington renewing his allegiance to him (the general) and the army.

The general says that Ballington knew full well that changes of officers is a part of the system, and that as he (Ballington) expected officers to obey his orders he in turn should be willing to obey orders; that when he took the command he knew he would be expected to change when ordered; that he and his wife knew and agreed to the change in 1893, also 18 months before the order came; that he never said a word on the general's recent visit to the United States; that one officer should not be allowed to have an easy command for life in the United States while others have dark poverty-stricken commands.

Then the general denies that he (Ballington) is dismissed and said that the change he had in view he believed would have gratified Ballington. Then he makes strong appeal to him to remain and refuses to accept his resignation.

TO RESTRAIN A LEVY

An Action Brought to Satisfy a Judgment.

PROBATE APPOINTS APPRAISERS

To Decide the Value of the Baggott Property—A Cleveland Firm After a Wellsville Merchant—Suit Brought on Promissory Notes—Court News.

Special to the News Review.

LISBON, April 21.—William McConnell entered suit this morning, asking the court to restrain Mary Watson from levying on a 180-acre tract of land in Washington township to satisfy a judgment which was given her against Marion Ogle for $572 at the May term of court five years ago. In July, 1890, the plaintiff took a mortgage on the land from James Ogle, who was then the owner, for $1,200. The following December James Ogle died, and the legatees, in order to pay off the indebtedness, conveyed this tract of land to McConnell. The defendant, he states, unless restrained by the court, will endeavor to sell the premises to obtain the amount of her judgment against Marion Ogle, who was one of the legatees under the will.

William Bailey & Son, a wholesale wall paper firm of Cleveland, entered suit this morning against Elmer S. Kelly, of Wellsville, asking a judgment for $376.64, which is due on an account, with interest from July.

Henry C. Jones, administrator of the late Dr. J. L. Coffee's estate at Salem, sued on two promissory notes, aggregating $253. The notes were given several years ago in Salem by Albert Cameron, who is made defendant to the action.

The probate court this morning appointed William Vodrey, William Cartwright and Daniel McNicol to appraise the East Liverpool property involved in the action brought by William Baggott, receiver for the partnership of S. and W. Baggott, against Elizabeth Baggott and others. The property to be appraised and sold is the west part of lot 65 and a part of lot 66, lots 71 and 72, a tract of land in the city containing five and one-half acres, and a tract containing six and one-half acres. Also a river front tract, together with all the material, apparatus and furniture connected with the pottery. The rights obtained from the city by reason of a certain lease will also be sold.

A Big Rock.

Yesterday afternoon the dredge boat encountered a boulder weighing several tons, and had quite a time removing it. It was finally pulled to the surface and was found to be too large to go into the bins of the barge. It was placed on the end of the barge and towed by the Ford City to a point near the opposite shore, and after considerable work was dumped into the river. The stone was of such weight that the barge was nearly capized, and had it not been that the boat was ballasted with sand such would have been the result.

Those who never read the advertisements in their newspapers miss more than they presume. Jonathan Kenison, of Bolan, Worth company, Iowa, who had been troubled with rheumatism in his back, arms and shoulders, read an item in his paper about how a prominent German citizen of Ft. Madison had been cured. He procured the same medicine, and to use his own words: "It cured me right up." He also says: "A neighbor and his wife were both sick in bed with rheumatism. Their boy was over to my house and said they were so bad he had to do the cooking. I told him of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and how it had cured me; he got a bottle and it cured them up in a week. Fifty cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist."

To Drill For Oil.

The Ernest Oil & Gas company of Sistersville will commence in the near future to put down a well on the land they recently purchased from the administrator of the William Kinney estate in Hancock county, in the hopes of securing oil or gas. If they are successful several wells will be put down, and as the land is next to the best paying fields in that section of the country, they have great hopes of success.

Our better halves say they could not keep house without Chamberlain's Cough remedy. It is used in more than half the homes in Leeds. Sims Bros., Leeds, Iowa. This shows the esteem in which that remedy is held where it has been sold for years and is well known. Mothers have learned that there is nothing so good for colds, croup and whooping cough, that it cures these ailments quickly and permanently, and that it is pleasant and safe for children to take. Twenty-five and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

A Word to Physicians.

Do you know that many broad minded physicians are using Foley's Honey and Tar Cough Syrup in their practice? They have found no remedy that gave as satisfactory results for all throat and lung complaints as this great cough medicine.

Sewering the Property.

The Delrick property on Sixth street is being sewered by order of the board of health.

When a little one is expected in the family how lovingly the parents plan together for their future welfare. They sometimes even forecast its education and career. Does this seem too early to anticipate while the child is yet unborn? It isn't. The child's destiny has already been partly mapped out by Nature according to the disposition and habits of the parents. The best plan a mother can make for the future happiness of her unborn child is to maintain her own cheerfulness and health while her child's undeveloped being is still a part of hers. Her health at this critical period is of tremendous consequence to the little one's whole future existence. Every prospective mother will find direct nourishment, comfort and sustaining strength, in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will maintain her vitality both bodily and mental; shorten the period of confinement and make labor easy and almost painless. It imparts strength and elasticity to the organs concerned in parturition, invests the mother with recuperative energy against any after period of weakness and depression, and aids in the secretion of healthy milk for the nursing of the child. It is the unfailing cure of all "female weaknesses."

Dear Doctor—Your "Favorite Prescription," is the best medicine I have taken for confinement that can be found. It proved so with me. I never suffered so little with any of my children as I did with my last, and she is the healthiest we have. When I began your treatment I could not stand on my feet long enough to wash my dishes without suffering almost death; now I do all my housework, washing, cooking, sewing, and everything for my family.

Have You Had the Grip?

If you have, you probably need a reliable medicine like Foley's Honey and Tar to heal your lungs and stop the racking cough incidental to this disease.

The Expansion of Ice.

Ice never bursts from freezing. As soon as the liquid of which it is composed is frozen solid expansion ceases. The cracking or bursting of ice is brought about in this way: When water is subjected to extreme cold, ice crystals will gradually form on its surface until the same are covered with a thin coat of what appears to be wet snow. From this outer coating of ice crystals all subsequent freezing goes downward, the ice thickening according to the degree of cold. The water which is being converted into ice now begins to expand, creating a pressure upon the unfrozen water below. This pressure is both downward and outward, and in case the sides and bottom of the receptacle supply the resistance.

As the freezing process continues the pressure upon the confined water and air in the interior of the bulk increases until something yields. If the vessel be stronger than the ice stratum that has formed over the surface, the layer of ice will be bent upward at the center, that being the weakest point, on account of the fact that the outer edges of the congealed mass are frozen fast to the sides of the vessel in which the experiment is being made. In this condition the center of the ice continues to rise or "bulge" until it bursts from the resistance of the water below. Could the vessel be tapped from below and the water drawn off, no amount of freezing would be sufficient to crack or bulge the ice layer on the surface.—St. Louis Republic.

Manners and Customs of the Boers.

The daily life of a Boer family is a simple one. At daylight all the members assemble in the main room—the kitchen and eating room, although most of the food is cooked in the open air—where the head of the family reads reverently a chapter or two from the Bible, generally the Old Testament; a simply, many prayer is then offered, followed by the observance of an ancient Bible custom. A colored handmaid enters the room with a basin of water and a towel. The guest is first approached, and invited to wash his hands and face and wipe them on the towel. The head of the family is next approached, and so on around the room until all have been included in the ceremony. This constitutes the day's ablutions of the family.

The morning meal consists of a dish of meat—deer or mutton, and sometimes beef—cut into large pieces. They all sit around the board while the father says a long grace, and a stranger not familiar with their table manners is apt to be left in the lurch. Each man, for the women eat alone, selects the particular piece of meat that strikes his fancy, and as soon as the "Amen" is spoken sticks his fork into the piece selected. It happens sometimes that two select the same piece. Then the quickest man gets the booty. Dry bread, sometimes butter, and strong black coffee complete the bill of fare, which may stand as a sample meal. It has been urged against the Boer that he is uncivilized, and this cannot be denied, but there is an excuse for this in the scarcity of water.—Forum.

An Original Judge.

No more unique figure is to be found in the American judiciary than Judge Gaslin of Nebraska, and many are the stories told of this interesting personality.

On one occasion a man who had drifted over into Nebraska from Colorado, who was not familiar with the manner of administering justice on the Nebraska side of the border, appropriated a horse which he found hitched to a post in front of a country store. The horse happened to be the property of Judge Gaslin. The thief was captured and later bound over to await trial in the district court. A few days after, Judge Gaslin met a fellow judge from another district and requested him, as a favor, to come into his district on a day specified and sentence a horse thief, as Gaslin said he felt a little delicacy in sentencing a man for stealing his own horse.

The fellow jurist assented and incidentally inquired when the offender was convicted.

"Oh, he isn't convicted yet," replied Judge Gaslin, "but I'll tend to that part of it." And he did.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Walpole an Inspired Reporter.

Of course a man may choose, if he will, to be less than a free author. He may become a reporter, for there is such a thing as reporting for books as well as reporting for newspapers, and there have been reporters so amazingly clever that their very aptness and wit constitute them a sort of immortals. You have proof of this in Horace Walpole, at whose hands gossip and compliment receive a sort of apotheosis. Such men hold the secret of a kind of alchemy by which things trivial and temporary may be transmuted into literature. But they are only inspired reporters after all, and while a man was wishing, he might wish to be more and climb to better company.—Professor Woodrow Wilson in Century.

Hadn't the Time.

A man asked for work at the door. The lady of the house said that she would take his name and address and see what could be done for him. She offered him a pencil and bit of paper. "You write it, mum," he said. "I would write it myself, but I never learned to write." "Not even your name?" she exclaimed. "No, I ain't had the time." "Well, why not take time? I'll teach you to write your name at least. It seems strange that an intelligent man like you hasn't learned that. How did it happen?" "Well, mum, you see I went and got married young, and I've always been busy working, and I ain't had the time for learning."—Boston Transcript.

"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE"

IS HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE.
Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths, the Plain Facts, the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life, Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls, Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood, and How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."
The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.
A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, etc.
To exchange a faded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.
To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.
To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.
Age no barrier. Failure impossible. Two thousand references.
The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.
A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:
"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday, and my new self was born today. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"
And another thus:
"If you dumped a cart load of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."
Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

PROBATE APPOINTS APPRAISERS

To Decide the Value of the Baggott
Property—A Cleveland Firm After a
Wellsville Merchant—Suit Brought on Promissory Notes—Court News.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

Lisbon, April 21.—William McConnell entered suit this morning, asking the court to restrain Mary Watson from levying on a 180-acre tract of land in Washington township to satisfy a judgment which was given her against Marion Ogle for $572 a: the May term of court five years ago. In July, 1890, the plaintiff took a mortgage on the land from James Ogle, who was then the owner, for $1,200. The following December James Ogle died, and the legatees, in order to pay off the indebtedness, conveyed this tract of land to McConnell. The defendant, he states, unless restrained by the court, will endeavor to sell the premises to obtain the amount of her judgment against Marion Ogle, who was one of the legatees under the will.

William Bailey & Son, a wholesale wall paper firm of Cleveland, entered suit this morning against Elmer S. Kelly, of Wellsville, asking a judgment for $376.64, which is due on an account, with interest from July.

Henry C. Jones, administrator of the late Dr. J. L. Coffey's estate at Salem, sued on two promissory notes, aggregating $253. The notes were given several years ago in Salem by Albert Cameron, who is made defendant to the action.

The probate court this morning appointed William Vodrey, William Cartwright and Daniel McNicol to appraise the East Liverpool property involved in the action brought by William Baggott, receiver for the partnership of S. and W. Baggott, against Elizabeth Baggott and others. The property to be appraised and sold is the west part of lot 65 and a part of lot 66, lots 71 and 72, a tract of land in the city containing five and one-half acres, and a tract containing six and one-half acres. Also a river front tract, together with all the material, apparatus and furniture connected with the pottery. The rights obtained from the city by reason of a certain lease will also be sold.

A Big Rock.

Yesterday afternoon the dredge boat encountered a boulder weighing several tons, and had quite a time removing it. It was finally pulled to the surface and was found to be too large to go into the bins of the barge. It was placed on the end of the barge and towed by the Ford City to a point near the opposite shore, and after considerable work was dumped into the river. The stone was of such weight that the barge was nearly capsized, and had it not been that the boat was ballasted with sand such would have been the result.

Those who never read the advertisements in their newspapers miss more than they presume. Jonathan Kenison, of Bolan, Worth company, Iowa, who had been troubled with rheumatism in his back, arms and shoulders, read an item in his paper about how a prominent German citizen of Ft. Madison had been cured. He procured the same medicine, and to use his own words: "It cured me right up." He also says: "A neighbor and his wife were both sick in bed with rheumatism. Their boy was over to my house and said they were so bad he had to do the cooking. I told him of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and how it had cured me; he got a bottle and it cured them up in a week. Fifty cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist."

To Drill For Oil.

The Ernest Oil & Gas company of Sistersville will commence in the near future to put down a well on the land they recently purchased from the administrator of the William Kinney estate in Hancock county, in the hopes of securing oil or gas. If they are successful several wells will be put down, and as the land is next to the best paying fields in that section of the country, they have great hopes of success.

Our better halves say they could not keep house without Chamberlain's Cough remedy. It is used in more than half the homes in Leeds. Sims Bros., Leeds, Iowa. This shows the esteem in which that remedy is held where it has been sold for years and is well known. Mothers have learned that there is nothing so good for colds, croup and whooping cough, that it cures these ailments quickly and permanently, and that it is pleasant and safe for children to take. Twenty-five and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

A Word to Physicians.

Do you know that many broad minded physicians are using Foley's Honey and Tar Cough Syrup in their practice? They have found no remedy that gave as satisfactory results for all throat and lung complaints as this great cough medicine.

When a little one is expected in the family how lovingly the parents plan together for its future welfare. They sometimes even forecast its education and career. Does this seem too early to anticipate while the child is yet unborn? It isn't. The child's destiny has already been partly mapped out by Nature according to the disposition and habits of the parents. The best plan a mother can make for the future happiness of her unborn child is to maintain her own cheerfulness and health while her child's undeveloped being is still a part of hers. Her health at this critical period is of tremendous consequence to the little one's whole future existence. Every prospective mother will find direct nourishment, comfort and sustaining strength, in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will maintain her vitality both bodily and mental; shorten the period of confinement and make labor easy and almost painless. It imparts strength and elasticity to the organs concerned in parturition, invests the mother with recuperative energy against any after period of weakness and depression, and aids in the secretion of healthy nourishment for the child. It is the unfailing cure of all "female weaknesses."

Dear Doctor—Your "Favorite Prescription" is the best medicine I have ever taken. I could not stand on my feet long enough to wash my dishes without suffering almost death; now I do all my housework, washing, cooking, sewing, and everything for my family.

Have You Had the Grip?

If you have, you probably need a reliable medicine like Foley's Honey and Tar to heal your lungs and stop the racking cough incidental to this disease.

The Expansion of Ice.

Ice never bursts from freezing. As soon as the liquid of which it is composed is frozen solid expansion ceases. The cracking or bursting of ice is subjected to extreme cold, ice crystals will gradually form on its surface until the same are covered with a thin coat of what appears to be wet snow. From this outer coating of ice crystals all subsequent freezing goes downward, the ice thickening according to the degree of cold. The water which is being converted into ice now begins to expand, creating a pressure upon the unfrozen water below. This pressure is both downward and outward, and in case the water under observation is in a vessel the sides and bottom of the receptacle supply the resistance.

As the freezing process continues the pressure upon the confined water and air in the interior of the bulk increases until something yields. If the vessel be stronger than the ice stratum that has formed over the surface, the layer of ice will be bent upward at the center, that being the weakest point, on account of the fact that the outer edges of the congealed mass are frozen fast to the sides of the vessel in which the experiment is being made. In this condition the center of the ice continues to rise or "bulge" until it bursts from the resistance of the water below. Could the vessel be tapped from below and the water drawn off, no amount of freezing would be sufficient to crack or bulge the ice layer on the surface.—St. Louis Republic.

Manners and Customs of the Boers.

The daily life of a Boer family is a simple one. At daylight all the members assemble in the main room—the kitchen and eating room, although most of the food is cooked in the open air—where the head of the family reads reverently a chapter or two from the Bible, generally the Old Testament; a simple, mainly prayer is then offered, followed by the observance of an ancient Bible custom. A colored handmaid enters the room with a basin of water and a towel. The guest is first approached, and invited to wash his hands and face and wipe them on the towel. The head of the family is next approached, and so on around the room until all have been included in the ceremony. This constitutes the day's ablutions of the family.

The morning meal consists of a dish of meat—deer or mutton, and sometimes beef—cut into large pieces. They all sit around the board while the father says a long grace, and a stranger not familiar with their table manners is apt to be left in the lurch. Each man, for the women eat alone, selects the particular piece of meat that strikes his fancy, and as soon as the "Amen" is spoken sticks his fork into the piece selected. It happens sometimes that two select the same piece. Then the quickest man gets the booty. Dry bread, sometimes butter, and strong black coffee complete the bill of fare, which may stand as a sample meal. It has been urged against the Boer that he is uncleanly, and this cannot be denied, but there is an excuse for this in the scarcity of water.—Forum.

An Original Judge.

No more unique figure is to be found in the American judiciary than Judge Gaslin of Nebraska, and many are the stories told of this interesting personality.

On one occasion a man who had drifted over into Nebraska from Colorado, who was not familiar with the manner of administering justice on the Nebraska side of the border, appropriated a horse which he found hitched to a post in front of a country store. The horse happened to be the property of Judge Gaslin. The thief was captured and later bound over to await trial in the district court. A few days after, Judge Gaslin met a fellow judge from another district and requested him, as a favor, to come into his district on a day specified and sentence a horse thief, as Gaslin said he felt a little delicacy in sentencing a man for stealing his own horse.

The fellow jurist assented and incidentally inquired when the offender was convicted.

"Oh, he isn't convicted yet," replied Judge Gaslin, "but I'll tend to that part of it." And he did.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Walpole an Inspired Reporter.

Of course a man may choose, if he will, to be less than a free author. He may become a reporter, for there is such a thing as reporting for books as well as reporting for newspapers, and there have been reporters so amazingly clever that their very aptness and wit constitute them a sort of immortals. You have proof of this in Horace Walpole, at whose hands gossip and compliment receive a sort of apotheosis. Such men hold the secret of a kind of alchemy by which things trivial and temporary may be transmuted into literature. But they are only inspired reporters after all, and while a man was wishing, he might wish to be more and climb to better company.—Professor Woodrow Wilson in Century.

Hadn't the Time.

A man asked for work at the door. The lady of the house said that she would take his name and address and see what could be done for him. She offered him a pencil and bit of paper. "You write it, mum," he said. "I would write it myself, but I never learned to write." "Not even your name?" she exclaimed. "No, mum, I ain't had the time." "Well, why not take time? I'll teach you to write your name at least. It seems strange that an intelligent man like you hasn't learned that. How did it happen?" "Well, mum, you see I went and got married young, and I've always been busy working, and I ain't had the time for learning."—Boston Transcript.
